Bishop of Belgaum & President of BDSSS

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Greetings of peace!

I am happy to write these few lines presenting the Annual Report of the Belgaum Diocesan Social Service Society for the year 2025-2026. At the outset, let me begin by expressing my heartfelt congratulations and gratitude to the entire BDSSS family, starting from the Director, Assistant Director, the administrative staff, the field workers, the partner agencies, benefactors and donors and all the stakeholders and beneficiaries for your dedication and collaboration in one more fruitful year of holistic social work.

The year 2025 was celebrated in the Church as the Jubilee year, a year of grace and hope to all the people of the world. Pope Francis, in the document that announced this holy year, spoke particularly about poverty and social justice: "We are called to be tangible signs of hope for those of our brothers and sisters who experience hardships of any kind... the Jubilee reminds us that the goods of the earth are not destined for a privileged few, but for everyone. The rich must be generous and not avert their eyes from the faces of their brothers and sisters in need... more than a question of generosity, this is a matter of justice" (Spes non confundit, n. 10, 16). BDSSS has taken this task on itself for the last three decades and has striven to bring assistance to the poor and the marginalized, of every kind, through the generosity and goodwill of many partner agencies and donors.

The present Annual Report gives us a glimpse into the efforts of BDSSS in various domains. The success stories show the different kinds of impact that the planning and work of BDSSS is creating - a confident younger generation, high-scoring students, HIV infected children building their own future with resilience, sustainable farming, restored families and many more. The projects undertaken by the Society are presented with numbers that give an insight about the scale of the service provided. On the whole, BDSSS is carrying out, in an exemplary way, the firm commitment of the Diocese of Belgaum towards the holistic upliftment of every person, without any kind of discrimination.

I once again appreciate the entire BDSSS team for their zeal and diligence, and thank all the partner agencies and benefactors for their unwavering support. Together, let us be instruments of hope to every person who is in need. May the Lord grant us all His choicest blessings and grace to continue in this noble mission that we have undertaken, of transforming our society for the better.

FROM THE DIRECTOR'S DESK

Rev. Fr. Peter Asheervadappa
Director - BDSSS

How do we make sure the most vulnerable don't get left behind as we move forward? Honestly, that question drives everything we do at Belgaum Diocesan Social Service Society (BDSSS).

The world isn't just changing - it's changing fast socially as well as economically - and too often, it is the people on the edges - families battling poverty, women, children, small farmers - pay the highest price. These are the people who face uncertainty every day, who get excluded just because of where or how they live.

At BDSSS, we start with them. Real development puts those most at risk first.

This year, we've pushed further. Across 3 districts and 92 villages, our 6 projects touched the lives of over 8,000 people - including more than 5,500 women and 2,400 children. We strengthened 405 Self-Help Groups and 192 community institutions, helping these groups take charge of their own futures.

Our focus on learning and building skills paid off - over 1,700 training and awareness programs happened, and through our microcredit efforts, families gained access to Rs.1.84 crore in financial support. We also unlocked Rs.3.98 crore worth of government schemes for our communities, making sure people could claim their rights and lift themselves up.

To support children and families, we gave out 467 study kits and more than 350 community kits, doing our part to boost education and bring people closer together. Our farmers increased their household income by 30% through our climate adaptive agriculture and alternative livelihood support.

But behind all these numbers are real stories, stories of hope.

We know real change never comes from us alone. That is why we keep investing in local leaders and community groups, and we pay close attention to what people tell us about their own lives. Their experiences shape our work, every step of the way.

Our mission reaches beyond quick fixes. We want to spark lasting change - where people gain real empowerment - better livelihood, children in school, fruitful agricultural returns and safer environments. To do this, we're walking with the communities, donors, our own team and everyone who believes in this mission.

There's plenty of hope in this journey. I thank you for standing with us.

Rev. Fr. Arun Fernandes
Assistant Director - BDSSS

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR SPEAKS

We recognize that meaningful change is achieved collectively. Sustaining progress relies on the strength and unity of each community.

Over the past year, we have supported thousands of underprivileged people by working closely with them. We have learned from them and listened to their needs as we worked to address them.

We helped poor and marginalized communities build resilience by empowering women as leaders, improving conditions for children and enabling farmers to adapt to climate change. Our aim is to foster strong foundations so these communities can thrive amid evolving challenges.

This year's theme centered on collaborating with our communities. We wanted to promote participation and help them take ownership of the change process. We also recognized the value of partnerships and cooperation, which benefit both us and the communities we serve.

We could not achieve our goals without the ongoing support of our donors, partners, volunteers and well-wishers. Their trust in us strengthens our commitment to succeed and helps us reach new milestones.

As I reflect on the past year's activities and achievements, I see more than just numbers. We still have a long way to go to keep our promise of creating a more inclusive society that ensures justice, equal access and respect for everyone.

Let's continue moving forward together with hope and faith.

THE PROBLEM

Thousands of families still live on the edge of poverty, vulnerability and exclusion

Community awareness campaign on prevention of child marriage and domestic violence

1 Livelihood Security is a daily reality for many vulnerable households

2 Climate Variability severely affects small and marginal farmers

3 Women & Children at risk
when access to protection & support systems are weak

THE SOLUTION

Communities do not need one-time support.
They need systems that last.

BDSSS steps in where people face the hardest challenges.

We work right alongside communities, helping them find reliable ways to earn a living, adapt their farming to a changing climate, protect their children from abuse and neglect and strengthen local institutions. We focus on empowering women, making sure they have a voice and the tools they need.

Our approach ties everything together - not quick fixes, but real, lasting change that supports the whole community. We're about more than just short-term aid; we build community systems that let people stand strong on their own.

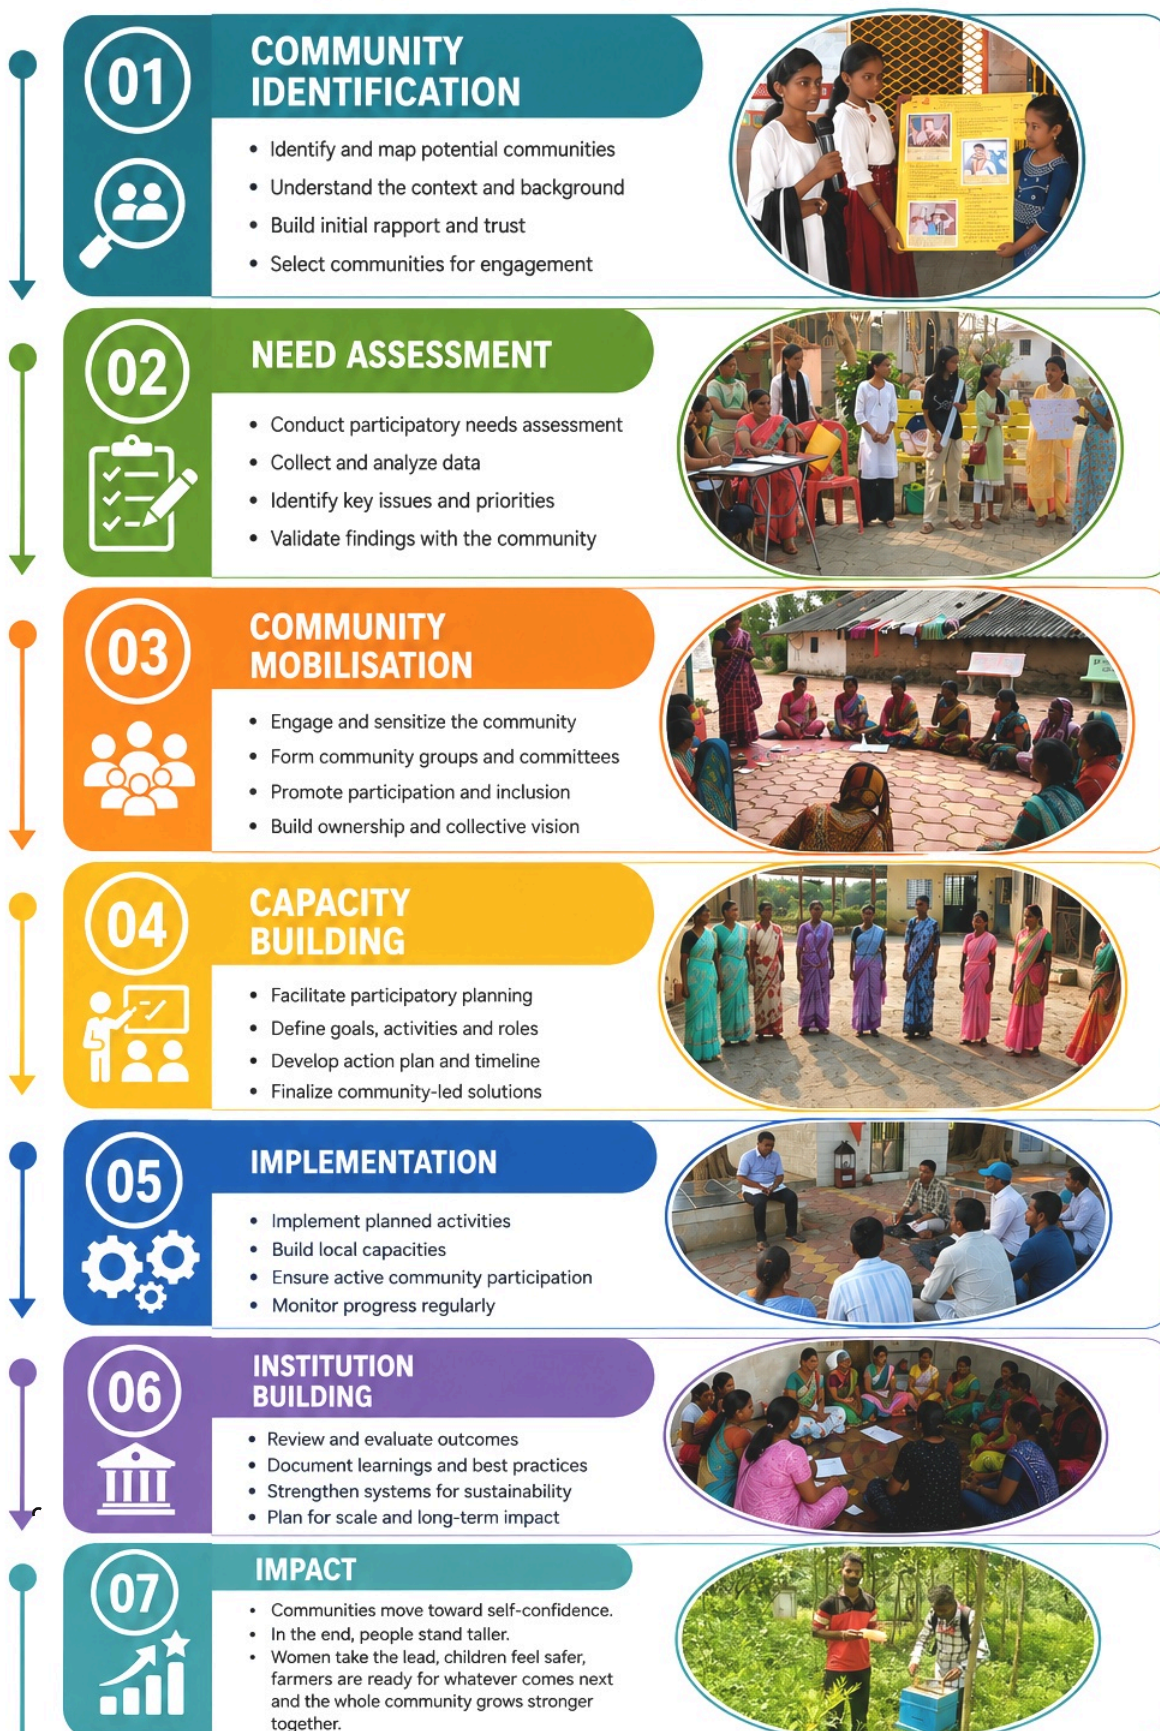

OUR VISION

OUR MISSION

MEASURED IN LIVES, NOT JUST NUMBERS

Impact is not measured only by activities completed but by the number of lives supported, voices empowered and communities made more robust.

NOTABLE EVENTS

WORLD CANCER DAY 2026

St. Ann's High School, Hubli, joined hands with BDSSS on 4th February to mark World Cancer Day, jumping right in to support the Sparsha Cancer Campaign. Students and staff got involved, and you could feel the sense of empathy and community spirit in every part of the day.

The program made something clear: cancer isn't just a personal battle. When one person is diagnosed, their whole family feels it - emotionally, financially and in so many other ways. That's why awareness, early detection and coming together as a community makes such a difference.

What really stood out? The students, around the year, didn't just celebrate birthdays with cakes or token gestures. They wanted to help for real. Therefore, they started collecting money in the BDSSS donation boxes and raised Rs.33,000, showing what value-based learning looks like when it jumps off the page and into real life. It's proof that schools can raise not just smart students, but also kind and socially responsible people.

Hats off to the school management and staff for leading the way and inspiring students to care about something bigger than themselves. Their support gave the Sparsha Cancer Campaign a strong boost and sent a clear message: when we work together, we can make a real impact.

BDSSS truly appreciates St. Ann's High School, Hubballi, for standing alongside and being an active partner in the fight against cancer.

VINAY ALAKNOOR

A Light That Never Went Out: Banahatti's Story of Hope

Back in 2012, the Belgaum Diocesan Social Service Society (BDSSS) set up a tuition centre in Banahatti (Bagalkote). There were 10 such centres set up in association with KNH Germany. The main idea was simple: give children from tough backgrounds a real shot at doing well in school, especially when they didn't have much support at home. The centre tried to close learning gaps, boost results and offer a place where kids actually felt encouraged.

The official project wrapped up in 2021, where BDSSS handed over the project to the local administration, but honestly, its influence never faded. The community built around it kept going, and those connections still help children today. That steady presence has changed how a lot of children in Banahatti see their own future and what they can achieve.

One standout story comes from a student, Vinay Alaknoor, who scored an incredible 97% in his recent PUC exams. He spent his early years at the BDSSS tuition centre, getting steady guidance, mentoring and a solid structure - that kind of thing is huge for young minds.

"At BDSSS, I learnt how to learn and how to get going in life" says Vinay with a lot of satisfaction on his face.

And the centre wasn't just about grades. It focused just as much on building confidence, keeping kids consistent and keeping their attitude towards learning positive. That combination laid a strong foundation for Vinay, helping him develop the kind of study habits that truly paid off in the longer run.

His journey really shows what's possible when you stick with community-based education and invest for the long haul. The effects keep rippling out, long after the official project has ended.

The Banahatti tuition centre stands as a reminder that when the right seeds are sown and nurtured with care, they grow into lasting change. Years later, those early efforts continue to bear fruit in the lives of children who simply needed an opportunity - and someone to believe in them.

The boy who once walked from house to house, delivering water to nearly 100 families to earn Rs.100 a day and continue his studies, is now moving forward with confidence, pursuing his dream of a career in accountancy.

His journey is not an exception - it is a possibility. There are many more Vinays waiting to be empowered.

SHRUTI*

From Survival to Strength: Shruti's (* name changed) Journey of Hope

17-year-old Shruti (name changed) lives in the quiet village of Karambal in Khanapur (Belagavi). Her story could have ended in hardship and loss - her parents died when she was young, and her grandmother took her in. Life threw responsibility at her too soon, and poverty seemed to close off every path forward. On top of that, Shruti was born with HIV. Her little brother has it too, and he looks to her not just for care, but for comfort.

Still, Shruti never backed down. When everything seemed stacked against her, she kept looking for a way up.

Then the BDSSS team started visiting her at home. They saw her vulnerability, but also something more - her spark. Month after month, they made sure she had proper nutrition, and they kept a close eye on her health. That support became her lifeline.

With better food and steady treatment, Shruti's health turned a corner. Her CD4 count climbed. She didn't just get stronger physically - she found the energy to fight, to live, to hope for more.

Now, she's a college student at Maratha Mandal College in Khanapur. That's a leap she once thought impossible. She's not just working hard in her classes; she's jumped into sports too, pushing herself and finding confidence in places she never expected.

She knows what she wants. Shruti's aiming for a stable job in the government or the private sector. Mostly though, she dreams of supporting her younger brother - making sure he gets everything she once worried they'd never have.

Shruti put it simply: "My elder sister couldn't go to school because we were poor. Only because of you I am going to college. You're my saviour."

Shruti's journey shows what happens when someone gets the right support at the right moment. She's proof that hope, care and encouragement can help anyone rise, no matter how tough things get.

She's not just surviving - she's building her own future. And she's not done yet.

SUNITA

Her Confidence and Leadership

Sunita, a 15-year-old girl from a financially struggling family in Kivadebail village, was once very quiet and hesitant. She studies in 9th standard and spends most of her time helping at home. Due to language barriers and lack of confidence, she avoided interacting with others and stayed away from group activities.

After joining the group formed under BDSSS, Sunita's life began to change. Through regular meetings, training sessions and exposure to different topics - especially child rights - she gradually built her confidence. She also improved her Kannada communication skills and started participating actively in group discussions.

Initially, Sunita faced challenges, including discouragement from people around her and lack of support at home. However, with continuous guidance from project staff and encouragement through community activities, she overcame these barriers.

Today, Sunita is no longer the shy girl she once was. She confidently speaks in front of others, takes initiative and even manages responsibilities such as handling the community library. She has now become a leader at the taluka level children's federation, inspiring other girls in her community.

Her journey shows how the right support, opportunities and guidance can transform a hesitant child into a confident young leader.

MAHABUBSUBANI MANDIHAL

How Gokrupaamrutha Transformed Mahabubsubani's Farm

Mahabubsubani Mandihal, a farmer cultivating crops like sugarcane, vegetables and barley, had long depended on chemical fertilizers. Over time, rising input costs and declining soil fertility began to affect both his income and confidence. Like many farmers in the region, he was searching for a sustainable alternative but lacked a reliable solution.

His turning point came through the BDSSS and SIF initiative promoting Gokrupaamrutha, a natural bio-organic fertilizer. Encouraged by its success among fellow farmers, Mahabubsubani decided to adopt this eco-friendly practice. He actively participated in BDSSS workshops and began preparing Gokrupaamrutha using simple, locally available ingredients. With regular application across his farm, he gradually reduced his dependence on chemical inputs.

Today, Mahabubsubani's farm reflects a visible transformation. His crops are healthier, greener and more resistant to pests and diseases. The soil has regained its fertility, leading to improved yields across all crops. Additionally, his input costs have significantly reduced, making farming more sustainable and profitable.

From a farmer burdened by rising costs and declining soil health, Mahabubsubani has become a confident practitioner of natural farming. He now enthusiastically encourages other farmers in his community to adopt Gokrupaamrutha, proving that simple, low-cost solutions can lead to lasting change.

How He Prepared It

Mahabubsubani prepared Gokrupaamrutha by mixing:

- 1 litre of mother culture
- 200 litres water
- 2 kg jaggery
- 3 litres buttermilk

The mixture was covered with cloth and stirred daily for 5-7 days. The solution stayed usable for up to 45 days. When the quantity reduced, he simply added more water, jaggery and buttermilk to continue using it.

How He Used It on His Farm

- Sprayed on sugarcane, vegetables and barley every 5 days (foliar spray or added to soil).
- Used in compost preparation, which helped compost decompose faster and become nutrient-rich.

PATRAPPA KALAGHATAGI

Small Intervention, Big Impact: Patrappa's Journey with Beekeeping

Patrappa Kalaghatagi, a small farmer managing a diverse mix of crops including sugarcane, vegetables, flower seeds and fruit trees, was constantly exploring ways to improve productivity and increase his income. Despite practicing multi-cropping, he was looking for sustainable methods to enhance yields without increasing costs.

His journey took a new direction when he introduced beekeeping on his farm. By placing natural pollination among his crops. The bees adapted seamlessly to his diverse cropping system, moving across flowering plants and significantly improving pollination.

The results were both immediate and impactful. Patrappa observed better flowering, increased fruit and seed setting and overall improved crop quality. This led to higher yields across his farm. In addition to this, he harvested around 4 kg of honey, creating a new and reliable source of income.

Today, Patrappa views beekeeping as a simple, low-risk and highly effective farming practice. Encouraged by improved productivity, better farm health and additional income, he plans to expand his beekeeping efforts by adding more bee boxes.

Patrappa's story highlights how a small, eco-friendly intervention can transform farm outcomes - boosting both income and sustainability while strengthening the natural ecosystem.

Beekeeping is a potent tool for increasing farm productivity and farmer income, as demonstrated by Patrappa Kalaghatagi's experience. He has improved harvests, collected honey and improved the ecological balance of his land with just a few bee boxes. His accomplishments serve as a powerful model for other farmers who wish to implement low-risk, sustainable methods that benefit the environment and livelihoods.

YALLAPPA MARIHAL

Reviving Soil, Restoring Growth: Yallappa's Shift to Vermiwash

Yallappa Marihal, a small farmer cultivating crops like sugarcane, vegetables and flower seeds, was facing the growing challenge of declining soil health and rising costs of chemical fertilizers. Determined to find a sustainable and cost-effective solution, he turned to vermicompost wash (vermiwash), an organic input known for enhancing soil fertility and plant health and largely recommended by BDSSS in all its agriculture projects.

With guidance and support, Yallappa set up a simple vermiwash unit using locally available materials such as organic waste, cow dung and earthworms. By regularly preparing and applying diluted vermiwash across his crops through foliar spray and soil drenching, he began to notice gradual but significant changes on his farm.

Today, Yallappa's fields show visible improvement. His crops are healthier, with better growth, stronger leaves and improved resistance to pests and diseases. The soil has become more fertile, with increased microbial activity and better moisture retention. Importantly, he has been able to reduce his dependence on chemical fertilizers, lowering his input costs while improving overall farm productivity.

Encouraged by these results, Yallappa is confident of achieving better yields and higher-quality produce in the coming seasons.

BASHASAB KOTHAVAL

From 25 Chicks to 2,000 Birds: Bashasab's Journey of Growth and Sustainability

Bashasab Kothaval began his journey with a modest start - just 25 chicks provided under the Save Indian Farmers Project. With limited resources but strong determination, he saw this as an opportunity to build a sustainable livelihood for his family. What started small soon turned into a vision for growth.

From the outset, Bashasab adopted pollution-free poultry farming practices, focusing on clean, eco-friendly methods that ensured healthier birds and better-quality eggs. Through continuous learning and careful management, he maintained high standards of hygiene, proper feeding and bird welfare.

Instead of expanding rapidly, Bashasab followed a steady and disciplined approach - reinvesting his earnings back into the farm. Over time, this strategy helped him scale his operations significantly. Today, he manages a booming poultry unit with over 2,000 birds, producing more than 800 eggs daily, marking a remarkable transformation.

His commitment to quality and sustainability has earned strong trust in the local market. Consumers prefer his poultry products for their better taste, higher nutritional value and clean production methods, allowing him to secure better prices and increase his income.

Bashasab's journey stands as a powerful example of how small beginnings, when combined with sustainable practices and smart reinvestment, can lead to large-scale success. Today, he not only enjoys improved financial stability but also inspires other farmers to adopt eco-friendly poultry farming as a viable and profitable livelihood option.

LINGAVVA

A Family Restored Through Collective Action

In Yadgud village, located about 15 km from Hukkeri taluka, a quiet but powerful transformation unfolded through the efforts of BDSSS. In a village with 3 active Self-Help Groups, Lingavva, an elderly woman and SHG member, was silently enduring suffering within her own home. Her grandson had developed a pattern of abusive behaviour, causing fear and emotional strain for her and the family.

With courage, Lingavva shared her situation in the SHG meeting. The group responded with empathy and action. Supported by members of the Gender Resource Team - especially Nirmala Kalappagol, who had received training on gender and legal awareness - the issue was taken up in a structured way. Lingavva was guided to seek immediate help through the 112-emergency helpline.

The response was swift. The police intervened, visited the house and issued a firm warning to the grandson. This timely action brought an end to the abuse. The home, once filled with tension and fear, is now a place of peace and self-respect.

Today, Lingavva lives without fear and her family has recouped. This transformation reflects the strength of collective action, awareness and timely institutional support. It also highlights how empowered women's groups can act as safe spaces where difficult issues are voiced and addressed.

Lingavva expresses her heartfelt gratitude to the SHG, the Gender Resource Team and BDSSS for standing by her and restoring peace in her life.

Strengthening Child Protection and Community Systems

The Saathi Project continues to promote child rights, protection and community well-being through a community-driven approach. During the year, the project reached over 2,000 individuals, including 891 children, with focused interventions in health, education and child protection, and 177 children being safeguarded from high-risk situations. A total of 17 health camps were organized, benefiting men, women and children, alongside 1,920 haemoglobin tests and critical medical support such as eye surgeries. 51 children applied for scholarships via District Child Protection Unit (6 sanctioned while 45 are in process). This is a monthly Rs.4000 scholarships for the high-risk children.

Our tuition classes have really taken off - they're well-known around here. Right now, BDSSS runs 15 classes with a total of 375 students in them. And it's not just about academics; these students are getting better in co-curricular activities too. Saathi also set up 13 Community Managed Child Resource Centres (CMCRCs), which serve as a central hub for anything community children need. The best part is, the community itself is starting to look after these centres more and more.

Through 15,000+ community engagements and awareness sessions, families and caregivers showed improved understanding of child rights, health practices and safeguarding mechanisms for children facing any kind of abuse and risk of early marriages.

Women's empowerment remained a key focus, with 83 Self-Help Groups comprising 1220 members engaging in savings of INR 69.42 lakhs, credit activities and livelihood initiatives such as small businesses and pollution free poultry farming. Additionally, continued efforts in advocacy and stakeholder sensitization - covering police, media and legal institutions - enhanced institutional responsiveness towards child rights.

We are grateful to Kindernothilfe, Germany for all their support.

Top 5 achievements this year:

- District and Taluka Children's Federations were formed, with 3 children representing at the State Children's Parliament in Vidhana Soudha.
- Taluka-level Slum Samithis and VDC Federations were established to strengthen community-led governance.
- 10 children emerged as Resource Persons, leading child rights protection mechanisms in their communities.
- 1,920 adolescents were screened for anaemia and supported with awareness and treatment for improved health.
- 51 single-parent families were linked to District Child Protection Unit (DCPU), with 6 children beginning to receive Rs.4,000 monthly sponsorship support.

WOMEN EMPOWERMENT PROJECT (WEP)

Promoting Agency, Participation and Leadership of Women

The Women Empowerment Project (WEP) enhances the social, economic and leadership capacities of women, under the aegis of KROSS, Bengaluru ably supported by Misereor. The project covers 44 villages of Hukkeri and Chikodi taluka in Belagavi district.

This year, 6,410 women were reached, of which 1,956 women belonged to SC/ST communities and 1691 from Other Backward Classes (OBC), accounting for 57%, reflecting strong inclusion of marginalized groups. The project also facilitated the mobilization of Rs.3,34,67,700 worth of schemes and entitlements, directly benefiting women headed families.

Women's collectives continued to be a strong pillar of the intervention, with 258 Self-Help Groups (SHGs) undergoing grading, indicating better institutional maturity and financial discipline. In addition, 4,655 women were trained on themes such as leadership development, gender equality and justice, legal awareness, women's rights, strengthening of Sanghas and federations, financial literacy, documentation and access to community resources. These efforts boosted women's ability to participate in decision-making spaces.

130 women emerged as leaders and involved in local governance processes. 8 women-led Gram Sabhas were organized with the participation of 235 members, while children's Gram Sabhas engaged 370 participants to discuss key issues such as sanitation, education and child protection. 539 women of the project secured 219 days of mandatory employment and earned Rs.38,35,420, whereas 468 women from community groups started livelihood activities, strengthening their economic independence. Notably, 17 women secured assets in their own names, marking a significant step toward financial empowerment.

Efforts to improve access to government services remained strong, with 86 applications submitted for schemes and entitlements and 21 applications submitted to Gram Panchayats for community infrastructure needs. Transparency and accountability were promoted through 13 RTI applications, along with additional efforts to identify gaps in scheme coverage. Social empowerment outcomes were also visible, with family disputes resolved through community mechanisms, 4 widowed women supported for remarriage and Rs.17,580 mobilized as community resources. Furthermore, one Mahasangha was strengthened for sustainability.

The project has contributed to a visible shift in women's agency and leadership. Women are increasingly taking initiative, participating in governance structures, engaging with elected representatives and preparing to contest in upcoming elections.

SUPPORTING, TEACHING, EDUCATING & PROVIDING SUPPLIES (STEPS 2.0)

Enabling Access to Education and Learning Opportunities

STEPS 2.0 was designed to support children and young people in accessing quality education by addressing barriers that hinder their learning. We worked in partnership with Capco to carve a need-based support to schools.

As part of the project, support was extended to 5 underprivileged schools of our work areas to improve access to essential educational infrastructure. These provisions contributed to creating a more functional, inclusive and supportive space for young learners.

This support helped improve the learning environment, enhance access to basic facilities and create better opportunities for both academic and skill-based development.

KRISHI SAMARTHYA

Advancing Climate-Resilient Agriculture and Farmer Well-being

Krishi Samarthya supported 430 small and marginal farmers in adopting sustainable climate-adaptive agricultural practices, improving productivity and reducing vulnerability to climate unpredictability.

The project promoted practical, affordable and locally suitable methods that strengthened soil health, water conservation and diversified farming systems.

The project rolled up its sleeves and worked side by side with farmers - training them, showing them how things work in real fields and sticking around to offer support. Because of this, 250 farmers got IFS scheme of Rs.26 Lakh from NABARD and 100 farmers initiated zero-budget farming. The farmers who have adopted bee-keeping and alternative livelihood like Pollution Free Poultry Farming alongside the climate adaptive agriculture have seen a 30% increase in household income this year.

Principal achievements include 3 PFPF models and 4 rainwater harvesting models, along with several on-farm activity models such as 12 Azola models, 12 beekeeping models, 30 vermicompost wash models, 24

Jeevamrutha models and 24 Gokrupamrutha models. We have also made 3 organic agriculture models implemented in 4 gunta land.

We thank Save Indian Farmers (SIF) for their unstinting support.

ASHRAYA

Supporting Children Infected and Affected by HIV/AIDS

The Ashraya Project supported 14 children living with HIV/AIDS in Khanapur, all from economically vulnerable backgrounds. Through regular follow-ups, CD4 monitoring and strong linkage with ART services, the project ensured stable healthcare and improved well-being.

Monthly nutritional support - including jaggery, groundnuts, soyabean, green gram, wheat and supplements - helped immunity.

The project also helped three children keep up with their studies, opening doors for a better future. Every month, parents and caregivers got together for support group meetings and awareness sessions. These helped them stick to treatment plans, care for their children with confidence and push back against stigma.

On the livelihood side, there are 14 Self-Help Groups with 160 members. 3 of these groups secured Rs.9 lakhs through Samrudhi loans to boost small businesses like cattle rearing and small shops. They're repaying those loans well, too.

By weaving together health, nutrition, education and job opportunities, the Ashraya Project gives struggling children and families a real shot at a stable, dignified life. This is a locally run project and you can help - sponsor a child today. Call 9611310262 or email bdsssd@gmail.com.

AKSHAYA DHAAGA

Stitching Pathways to Women's Empowerment

Belgaum Diocesan Social Service Society (BDSSS) entered into a meaningful partnership with AkshayaShakti Welfare Association under the Akshaya Dhaaga initiative, aimed at enhancing livelihood opportunities for women through tailoring and vocational skill development.

As part of the pilot phase, Akshaya Shakti provided 10 sewing machines to BDSSS and supported the launch of a tailoring training centre. The first batch successfully enrolled 25 women beneficiaries, equipping them with practical tailoring skills and entrepreneurship opportunities that can contribute to improved household incomes and economic self-reliance.

The training programme combines hands-on learning, regular mentoring, access to tailoring materials, and competency-based assessments. Upon successful completion of the course, participants receive certification, enabling them to pursue employment, self-employment, or home-based tailoring enterprises.

The initiative aligns with BDSSS's commitment to women's empowerment, sustainable livelihoods, and community development. The pilot batch has generated encouraging participation and enthusiasm among women from vulnerable and economically disadvantaged backgrounds.

Building on the success of the initial phase, BDSSS and AkshayaShakti have agreed to continue and strengthen the partnership in the coming years. The collaboration is expected to expand training opportunities, reach more women, and create sustainable livelihood pathways for marginalized communities.

Through AkshayaDhaaga, BDSSS continues to support women in transforming skills into opportunities, confidence into independence, and aspirations into sustainable livelihoods.

ಈ ಮಾತಿಗೆ ಕೆರಳಿದ ನ್ಯಾಯಮೂರ್ತಿಗಳು, 'ಯಾವುದೇ ಕಾರಣಕ್ಕೂ ಬಾಲ್ಯ ವಿವಾಹ ನೆರವೇರಿದ ಪೋಷಕರ ವಿರುದ್ಧದ ಕ್ರಿಮಿನಲ್ ಪ್ರಕರಣ ರದ್ದುಪಡಿಸಲು ಸಾಧ್ಯವಿಲ್ಲ. ಅವರೊಬ್ಬ ವಿವಾಹವಾಗಿದ್ದು ಎಂಬುದೇನಿಲ್ಲ. ಈ ವಿಷಯದಲ್ಲಿ ಪೋಷಕರಿಗೆ ಕಂಪೆ ಕೊಡುವ ಪ್ರಕ್ರಿಯೆ ಇಲ್ಲ' ಎಂದು ಗುರುತಿಸಿದರು.

'ಪ್ರಕರಣದಲ್ಲಿ ಮದುವೆಯಾಗುವ ಯುವಿಗೆ ಮಗು ಜನಿಸಿದೆ. ಈ ಅಂಶವನ್ನು ಪರಿಗಣಿಸಿ ಪೋಷಕರನ್ನು ರದ್ದುಪಡಿಸಬಹುದು. ಆದರೆ, ಪೋಷಕರ ವಿರುದ್ಧ ಬಾಲ್ಯ ವಿವಾಹ ಪ್ರಕರಣ ಮುಂದುವರಿಯಬೇಕು. ಈ ವಿಚಾರದಲ್ಲಿ ದಯೆ ಕೊಡುವ ಆಗ್ರಹವಿಲ್ಲ' ಎಂದು ಖಣ್ಡನಾಥರವರ ನ್ಯಾಯಮೂರ್ತಿಗಳು, ಅರ್ಜಿ ಖಂಡಿತ ಕೀರ್ತಿ ಕಾನ್ಪುರಿ.
